Life in Istanbul

Istanbul is Turkey's most populated and largest city as well as being a cultural and financial center. It is the only city in the world built on two continents. It stands on the shores of the Bosphorus, where the waters of the Black Sea combine with those of the Marmara Sea and the Golden Horn. Throughout its history Istanbul has served as capital city of Roman Empire (330-395), the Byzantine Empire (395-1204 and 1261-1453). The remains of many ancient civilizations and cultures are blended with today's Turkish culture. A combination of old versus new, the traditional versus modern, as well as traces of diverse ethnicities and religions makes the city a unique and very charming place. The city is full of contrasts and colorful vies, attracting tourists and new immigrants from all over the world.

Psychological Counseling Center

The aims of Psychological Support Center are supporting individual, social and academic developments of the students and staff and helping them to gain skills for coping with personal or relational problems that they encounter and for adaptation to their lives. Our students can benefit from individual and group counseling services offered by our center. Committed to the ethical standards and confidentiality codes set by the Turkish Psychological Association, our clinical psychologists offer these services free of charge. Psychological Support Center office is located in our campus and all the registered students and staff of Istanbul Kemerburgaz University can benefit from those services.

Food Service

At Istanbul Kemerburgaz University, our cafeteria serves for breakfast, lunch and dinner in fast food, snacks and pastry options with its capacity of 150. The main dining hall, with its capacity of 250, is open for lunch between noon and 2 p.m. In addition to a variety of food choices and salad bar, a set meal is also served. The quality of the menu served is ensured with HACCP and ISO:9001-2000 standards.

Money and Banks

The monetary unit is the Turkish Lira (TL). Traveler's checks are not favored in Istanbul. ATMs can be found in even the smallest Turkish towns. Most accept international credit cards or bank cards (a strip of logos is usually displayed above the ATM). Almost all ATMs have a language key to enable you to read the instructions in English.

Most commercial establishments accept international credit cards such as Visa, Master Card and American Express.

There is an ATM service of İş Bank available for 7/24 hours at the campus. In addition to that, there is a stationary, copy center and book shop available for students on campus. Due to its close location to the 212 shopping mall, makes it convenient to dine, shop and reach banking services for students.

VAT

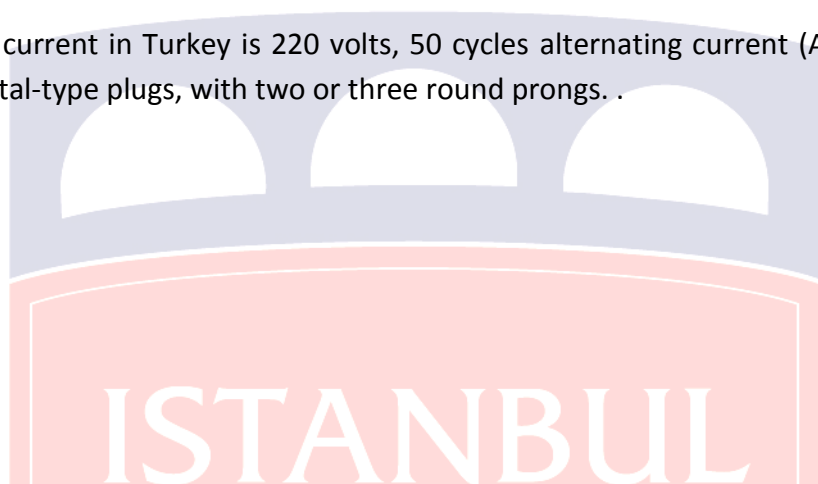

The value-added tax, here called KDV, is 18% on most of products. Hotels typically combine it with a service charge of 10% to 15%, and restaurants usually add a 15% service charge.

Value-added tax is nearly always included in quoted prices. Certain shops are authorized to refund the tax so you must ask about this.

Electricity

The electrical current in Turkey is 220 volts, 50 cycles alternating current (AC); wall outlets take Continental-type plugs, with two or three round prongs. .

Travel Tips

Safety: Keep your passport and travel documents with you at all times. A pack that fits around your waist and holds everything in front of your body is the best.

In case the airline loses your luggage, have everything you need for one night's emergency stay in a bag with you on the airplane.

MAKE AND KEEP COPIES OF ALL YOUR IMPORTANT PAPERS AND YOUR PASSPORT.

Put your name and both your home and Turkey addresses and telephone numbers INSIDE your baggage and on a label outside of your baggage. You can use the University's address if you do not have an address in Turkey yet.

Addressing

When you settle in Turkey you are going to notice that people usually address each other with their first names. Don't be surprised because people were mentioned with their first and their fathers name during the 700-year Ottoman Empire. Surname law was accepted in 1934 after the Republic of Turkey was established.

Hanım is added to the first name while addressing to ladies while Bey is added to their first name when addressing to men. Turks usually discriminate on this subject when speaking to foreigners and non-Moslems. During business conferences or meetings people speak to each other Sayın followed by their surnames ignoring the gender. Sometimes people are addressed by their professions. For example you can address a female lawyer as Avukat Hanım or a male doctor as Doktor Bey. You can call a member of male personnel on official sites as Memur Bey. Any serviceman whether he is electrician, upholsterer or plumber is addressed as usta. The taxi, dolmuş and bus drivers can be addressed as Şoför Bey.

Body Language

Turks like to communicate with their hands and arms and they can surely compete with Italians on this matter. Even if you don't know a word in Turkish it is possible for you to get along with a Turk. Bow your head for 'yes' and raise your head backwards for 'No'. If you raise your shoulders and open your arms it means, "I don't know". In order to show that you trust him/her you can tap his/her shoulders. Moreover, Turks like kissing each other. It is customary to kiss each other's cheeks upon greeting and when leaving - men also do this, however it is presumed that there is some level of familiarity, otherwise, a simple handshake would suffice.
