COURSE DESCRIPTION

The teacher will organize a mandatory follow-up each month with the students.

Teaching method: Learning by doing.

The students may use the tools learned from different courses of the Master's programme, in particular the course entitled Collective intelligence and project management.

Assessment: Students will have to write a written report, putting in evidence the different activities that have been implemented and providing feedback.

If some activities are related to IAE clubs, a handover report is expected. There must be tangible evidence that the other activities are being carried out successfully.

OBJECTIVES

Promote involvement in voluntary and community projects and activities, particularly in student associations and clubs.
